Makawao - This fall, Hui No'eu will embark on a printmaking adventure of epic proportions! The Hui is thrilled to bring Artist in Residence James Bailey to Maui to work in the Hui's print studio, teach a workshop open to all levels, and coordinate our "Big Ink" Celebration! James Bailey is a Professor in the School of Art at the University of Montana where he also leads students in an annual printmaking event where large-scale prints are created using an unlikely and unique printing press: a steamroller! While on Maui, James will create a 4' x 8' print of his own and facilitate a community steamroller printmaking event right here at the Hui!

On Saturday, October 8th from 10am – 2pm, the Hui's 2016 Artist in Residence Program will culminate with a "Big Ink" celebration! James will guide teams of volunteers as they assist him in the printing process by inking blocks (linoleum or wood) that have been carved by local artists, Hui students, and youth from local schools in the weeks leading up to the event. Everyone will be invited to gather and watch the magic unfold as James prints the blocks on cloth or paper by driving over them with a steamroller.
